DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Originally, this building probably was 2-1/2 stories high and five bays wide. Now is it three stories in height and six bays wide. The brick gives the evidence of the change in height. On the first and second floor fronts it is common Flemish bond whereas on the third story it is common running bond. The addition of an extra bay is shown by a vertical joint in the masonry at the second floor level. The brick on the new parts matches well with the old - it is red. The trim is wood painted white. Over the present building is a flat roof.

At the first story are two metal and glass storefronts and one wood and glass restaurant front. To the north of this latter front, under the added bay, is an alleyway with a wood gate in front. The restaurant and alleyway have a green painted wood cornice over them with brackets on either end.

The second and third floor fronts each have six windows, but the spacing is somewhat irregular. The added bay especially is separated from the bay next to it by a wider space than most of the others. The windows are wood, double hung with 2/2 sash, wood sills, and elliptical head pediments over them.

Above the third floor windows is an entablature consisting of a small wood architrave, a brick frieze and a wood cornice with a dentil course and a row of modillions. The whole of this is supported on wood brackets, two between each bay and two on each corner of the building.
